

ISSY 25

International Symposium: "Systems Biology of Yeasts"

18-21 June, 2006Hanasaari, Espoo, Finland

Dear Colleague,

As an active participant of the 25th International Specialized Symposium on Yeasts, "Systems Biology of Yeasts", you are invited to submit a full-length manuscript (Research Article or MiniReview) to FEMS Yeast Research. The deadline for submission is 31 October, 2006.

All manuscripts will be peer-reviewed. The accepted articles will be published in print in a Thematic Issue of FEMS Yeast Research, to appear before Summer 2007. Manuscripts should be submitted through Manuscript Central[®], which is a web-based submission, reviewing and tracking system in use by FEMS.

To submit a manuscript through this system, please go to: <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/fems> and check the "Instructions and Forms" icon for the latest submission instructions.

Authors submitting manuscripts must include their name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, names of co-authors, title of the manuscript, abstract and keywords. FEMS strongly recommends that you compile your manuscript in MS Word and include text, tables and figures in a single Word document. In this document ensure that line and page numbering are activated. The submission system will convert your Word document to a PDF file and you can confirm accurate conversion. In your cover letter indicate clearly that your submission is related to ISSY 25. If you do not receive e-mail confirmation of your submission within 24 hours, please contact: submission@fems-microbiology.org

Please consult Notes to Authors via the drop-down menus on the Journals page of the FEMS Website (www.fems-microbiology.org) or in a recent issue of FEMS Yeast Research for more detailed information!

For further questions, please contact FEMS Publications Office, Keverling Buismanweg 4, 2628 CL Delft, The Netherlands. Tel.: +31-15-269-3920. Fax: +31-15-269-3921. Email: femsyr@fems-microbiology.org.

We are looking forward to your contribution!

Merja Penttilä
Guest Editor

Teun Boekhout
Chief Editor
